This bill was reported favorably in the house today.

The senate at 11:35 adjourned until 10 o'clock Thursday.

MISS PEARL REEVES

BRIDE OF R. E. RACKLEY.

Beautiful Home Wedding Celebrated Yesterday Afternoon at 12:30 O'Clock.

Yesterday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, 421 South Eugene street, a number of their friends witnessed a beautiful home wedding when Miss Pearl Reeves became the bride of Mr. Royce E. Rackley. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. Murphy Williams, pastor of the Church of the Covenant.

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion in appropriate colors. The music was rendered by Miss Eleanor Elliott. The wedding was a quiet and informal affair, only intimate friends knowing of the approaching marriage, and their friends and acquaintances will learn with surprise of their marriage.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Rackley left on No. 36 for Richmond where they will spend several days, after which they will make their home in this city with the bride's mother on Eugene street.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Ida Reeves and is a charming young lady with a large number of friends. Mr. Rackley is an energetic young man who by his business methods has won the confidence and esteem of his associates. He is connected with the Huntley-Stockton-Hill Company.

The out-of-town guests present for the wedding were Mrs. W. B. Partridge, Sanford; Miss Maude Coats, South Boston, Va.; Mrs. C. P. Cobb, Plainfield, N. J., and Mrs. Amos Andrews, Providence, R. I.

GREENSBORO COMPANY PRAISED

Col. Ludlow's References to Guilford Grays' Work Last Summer Complimentary.

In his annual report Col. H. H. Ludlow, commander of the artillery of the district of Cape Fear, composed of five North Carolina companies, complimented the Guilford Grays, known as Third Company, Coast Artillery, for the work done last summer during the practice work at Fort Caswell. Col. Ludlow divides the work of the companies into three grades, excellent, good, poor. The work of the Third Company was excellent, that of the First, Second and Fourth good, while that of the Fifth was poor. In service practice, Col. Ludlow states, with a 1,000 pound projectile the Greensboro boys had one record shot at a moving target, scoring a hit. The Fourth Company had the same opportunity of scoring a hit, but they were given a close miss as a result of their miscalculations in taking aim. Taken as a whole the references to the work of the boys of the Third Company is quite flattering and Captain Kuykendall and his men thoroughly appreciate this mention, and are drilling energetically with a view of making a still better record this summer.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY DINNER

Children of Mrs. P. F. Jeffreys Remember Her Anniversary In Most Agreeable Way.

Mrs. P. F. Jeffreys, of 440 South Menard street, was 70 years of age yesterday and her children took advantage of the occasion to give her a surprise dinner. Without her knowledge they prepared a splendid dinner and, assembling at the home of Mr. John T. Perkins, a son-in-law, they marched in a body to Mrs. Jeffreys' residence bringing the various courses of the birthday dinner with them and also, of course, a full measure of surprise for Mrs. Jeffreys to whom the affair was entirely unexpected. Several children living out of the city, as it was not practicable to send portions of the surprise dinner, sent valuable presents. The dinner was also a family reunion and was thoroughly enjoyable. Mrs. Jeffreys' children are as follows: Mrs. E. J. Maguire, of Lumberton; Mrs. W. I. Maynard, of Salisbury; Mrs. D. C. Leonard, of High Point; Mrs. J. C. Montgomery, Mrs. C. Davis, Mrs. John T. Perkins and Miss Callie Jeffreys, and Messrs. J. R. S. B., and M. S. Jeffreys, of Greensboro.

DIDN'T KNOW THE GUN WAS LOADED

Working On An Old Gun Thomas Brim, of Rockingham County, Loses His Life.

Working on an old muzzle-loading gun which he thought was unloaded, Thomas Brim, of Rockingham county, yesterday afternoon received in his eye a full load of shot, instant death resulting.

It seems that Mr. Brim, who was a young man of about 26 years of age, was trying to get the tube off the gun and had placed the weapon partly in the fire with this end in view. It is supposed that the heat caused the discharge of the gun.

The deceased was a son of Mr. Benjamin P. Grim and was married. Mrs. John Friddle, of this city, is a sister. He lived six miles north of Summerfield just across the county line.

IS NOW STATE JURISDICTION.

National Board of Directors of Knights of Columbus Approves a Consolidation of the Carolinas Into One Jurisdiction.

Charlotte Observer: A telegram received here late yesterday afternoon from the national board of directors of the Knights of Columbus, the Catholic order, in annual session in Washington, brought the news that the consolidation of North Carolina and South Carolina into one State jurisdiction has been approved by the board. This means that the proposed merger is now an accomplished fact. Heretofore each state has been territorial jurisdiction with Mr. J. W. Conway of Charlotte territorial deputy for North Carolina and Mr. Jos. R. Allen of Columbia, territorial deputy for South Carolina. Leadership in the new jurisdiction is yet to be assigned.

A subject of much interest among Catholics is a ceremonial to accompany the unveiling of a $100,000 monument to Christopher Columbus built by the Congress of the United States. This is expected to occur on October 12, the date on which San Salvador was sighted. The order of Knights of Columbus gets its name from America's discoverer. Its Supreme Knight, Mr. James A. Flaherty, is a member of the board appointed by Congress, which has had charge of the construction and placing of the monument, which will be located in front of the palatial new union passenger station.

The occasion will be celebrated by a gift of $500,000 endowment to the Catholic institution, the University of America, in Washington. This will endow 50 scholarships. It may be that postponement of the date will be necessitated by delay in the raising of the money or in the construction of the monument or both.

IN SUPERIOR COURT.

Trial of Case of Harriet Sharpe vs. Southern Railway Company Still in Progress.

All of yesterday in Superior Court was taken up in the trial of the case of Harriet Sharpe vs. Southern Railway Company, the taking of testimony being concluded just as court adjourned for the day. The argument will begin this morning and the case will probably go to the jury by noon.

The suit is for the recovery of $2,000 as damages for mental anguish because of the refusal of the defendant to allow the plaintiff to ride on a certain train. The plaintiff was coming to Reidsville from a point in Virginia and at Lynchburg had to change cars. She contends that the train, upon which she was not allowed to ride, was standing in the station at the time and when she was preparing to get aboard the conductor intervened, claiming that it was too near starting time, whereas the train remained standing for fully one minute after she had been refused the privilege of getting on. The defendant contends that the train was actually starting as the plaintiff rushed up and it would have been dangerous for her to have made the attempt to get on.

The next case on the calendar is that of Amelia A. Weaver, adm'r., of Wiley Weaver, deceased, vs. Southern Railway Company. If this is taken up it will probably consume all of Friday.

Married Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the office of Justice of the Peace Collins, who officiated, Mr. B. F. Idol and Miss Lonnie Smith, of Kernersville, were united in marriage. Following the ceremony the happy couple returned to their home near Kernersville.

MAP OUT WORK FOR NEXT YEAR

Big Things Planned by Geological Survey.

Annual Meeting Held In Raleigh Yesterday—Reports Show Considerable Work Accomplished Especially As to Road Improvement—Rev. W. L. Cunningham Passes Away—Charters Issued.

Raleigh, Jan. 18.—The North Carolina Board of Geological Survey in annual session here adopted a program today for work during the coming year as mapped out by State Geologist Joseph Hyde Pratt. It includes a vigorous prosecution of the investigation of the peat deposits in Eastern Carolina and the possibilities for its profitable utilization; the investigations of the copper deposits west of the Blue Ridge; the study of the drainage possibilities of the state, especially in ascertaining what swamp lands can be profitably drained; the continuation of the good roads policy of the past two years of giving engineering assistance to counties in the construction and maintenance of roads;

The program also includes the continuation of the forestry policy of inventoring the timber and estimating the location and amount of timber, this having been done in forty of the western counties; assist cities and towns in the surveys and protection of water sheds.

The reports show an amazing amount of good for the furtherance of road improvement accomplished during the past two years with the $5,000 appropriation for engineering assistance. The legislature will be urged to appropriate $40,000 for this and other co-operative work with the counties and to pass a bill for the creation of a full fledged state highway commission to press the co-operative work with counties in all parts of the State.

After an illness of one week with pneumonia Rev. W. L. Cunningham, secretary of the North Carolina Methodist Conference and presiding elder for the Raleigh district, died at his home in this city leaving a wife and a brother and a sister, the brother being Jessie L. Cunningham, of Nashville, Tenn., and the sister, Mrs. R. W. Bailey, of Louisville. Mrs. Cunningham was Miss Pendleton, of Nashville, Tenn. He was 55 years old and had been in the Methodist ministry for thirty years. Some of his charges have been Raleigh, Oxford, Durham, Wilmington, and Goldsboro. He was educated at the University of North Carolina and Vanderbilt University. The funeral arrangements are not yet announced.

Col. Fred A. Olds has gone for a trip of a couple of months or longer through the Southern States and into Mexico. He will stop for some time with his son in Texas on his return trip.

An important insurance bill introduced by Mr. Nunn, of Craven, in the House would prescribe the procedure in the liquidation of insurance companies in the state when they have failed to come up to the requirements of the state insurance laws or committed acts tantamount to serious impairment of capital.

Charters are issued for the Ragan Co., Bryson City, capital $10,000 and to the Madison Lumber Co., Marshall, capital $10,000, by Guy V. Roberts and others. Charter amendments change the name of the Hunter Bros. and Brewer Co., Raleigh, to the Hunter-Rand Co. And increases capital of the Buckhorn Lithia Water Co., Granville county, to $200,000.

A Question of Law. District Attorney Holton in straightening out the affairs of the late "Squire Wolfe" yesterday ran up against a legal question that puzzled him considerably and other attorneys to whom he stated the facts as well. It seems that "Squire Wolfe," who for years was a justice of the peace, rendered a judgment in a case about the time he was forced to quit his business on account of illness and did not transcribe the judgment on the docket. The question is who has authority to do this work? If a successor to Justice Wolfe had been appointed or elected, this duty would devolve on him, but no successor has been appointed, or elected. So far as the district attorney is at sea regarding the matter.

LADIES, PINCH YOUR EYELIDS
And When You Sleep Close Your Mouth—Mildred Holland Says It.
New York Sun.

Mildred Holland, the actress, told several hundred members of the Professional Woman's League and their guests how to keep beautiful in a talk in their clubrooms, at 1999 Broadway, yesterday. One of the principal ingredients of her recipe was the "beauty thought." She said that when a woman looks into her mirror every morning she should think "How well I am looking!" and she is sure to look that way. She said pleasant thoughts help her muscles.

Her advice was not to depend upon cosmetics for good looks, because they cannot be had that way. Too much massaging, she thought, produced flabbiness. She said almond meal should be used instead of soap and the face should be ironed out with ice occasionally.

"If you don't want hollowes behind your ears," she advised, "you must close your mouth when you sleep. Always sleep on your back, and it is better not to use a pillow. Sleeping on the side causes puffs under the eyes. To keep your eyelids from sagging you should pinch them every day."

Miss Holland also advised against wearing corsets.

Foley's Kidney Remedy-An Appreciation
L. McConnell, Catherine St., Elmira, N. Y., writes: "I wish to express my appreciation of the great good I derived from Foley's Kidney Remedy, which I used for a bad case of kidney trouble. Five bottles did the work most effectively and proved to me beyond doubt it is the most reliable kidney medicine I have ever taken." Howard Gardner.

Lulu Glaser's Great Song Free.

By special arrangements the words and music of "The Waltz Song," now being sung with unusual success by Lulu Glaser at the Majestic Theatre, Brooklyn, will be given free with every copy of next Sunday's New York World.

This is the song that is featured by Miss Glaser in "The Girl and the Kaiser," the musical play in which she is starring. Music stores charge more for this song alone than several Sunday Worlds, with song included, would cost. Sunday Worlds should always be ordered in advance. The demand for them is great and they go quickly. Music by arrangement with T. B. Harris and Day & Hunter.

TELEPHONE COURTING AND WEDDING IN WEEK

Montana Telegrapher Sees Girl and Makes Her Bride in Six Days.

Bozeman, Mont., Jan. 17.—Mrs. J. A. Traub is just married to a man she first saw last Monday, to whom she had never spoken face to face until a few moments before her wedding and with whom she became united in a box car.

The introduction, the courtship, the proposal and the acceptance were all managed over the telephone. This exhibit of a quick romance is the direct result of the blizzard and snowstorm which has tied up railroad traffic through this section.

And if all those trains had not been delayed the present happy husband probably would not have been at the station pounding a telegraph key, where Miss Julia Winslow, of Livingston, saw him.

Traub, who is a train dispatcher of the Gallatin Valley Railroad, was seated at his key in the depot when Miss Winslow entered. As soon as she had departed Traub began to inquire who she was and through his influence with the Camp Creek agent procured an introduction over the railroad telephone, which during the next few days carried a good deal of unofficial business.

Last Sunday was the train dispatcher's day off. He had found, however, time enough on Saturday to get a marriage license. There are no trains to Camp Creek on Sunday, so he took the early morning train on the Northern Pacific to the nearest town, routed out the minister before daylight and with the minister and a friend drove over to Camp Creek station, where the agent had his home and office housed in a single box car.

Home protection is true wisdom. Vick's Croup and Pneumonia Salve ought to be in every home for its quick relief and prevention of two dangerous diseases and the more common ailments such as Colds, Catarrh, Burns and Chaps.

HE WAS WISE

Advertisement Writer Produced Verse With Metrical Fault With a Deliberate Purpose.

New York Sun.

They had neighboring straps in the subway train and were discussing the merits and demerits of the verse employed by advertisers to set forth the virtue of their wares. The man with the skyscraping forehead was quite violent in his denunciation of the "vicious metrical defects" of advertising verse and picked out a sample that was before the eyes of both:

She does not sigh, she does not cry
She eats the best, Middlebury pie.

"The way you have to mouth that last line is frightful," said the critic, and to him the business man answered:

"That's where the cleverness of the ad comes in. The writer of that, like many of the best in the business, was metrically offensive on purpose. He knew that the more intelligent folk would be irritated by that last line and furthermore he knew that being irritated they would remember Middlebury pie much longer than some article smoothly advertised but easily forgotten. See if you do not find yourself repeating that last line and trying to make it sound right."

VARIETIES IN CHEESES.

Parmesan is So Hard That Cutting is Practically Impossible.

The difference in cheeses is sometimes confusing to those who have not access to a large market. Edam, pineapple, Parmesan and Roquefort are hard cheeses, Neufchatel, cream and cottage cheeses soft. Genuine cream cheese is made from a rich cream thickened by souring or from sweet cream thickened rennet. Neufchatel is a soft rennet cheese made from cow's milk either whole or skinned. Cottage cheese is made from sour milk without the use of rennet. Roquefort is a hard rennet cheese made from the milk of sheep, the name being derived from the village of Roquefort, in the southeastern part of France, where the cheese is ripened in caves or natural caverns. Edam is a hard rennet cheese produced in Holland and is made from unskinned cow's milk. Parmesan is an Italian cheese known for centuries in that country as Grana, the term referring to the granular condition of the cheese. It is so hard cutting is practically impossible, and we get it in this country grated in bottles. This cheese is made from skinned milk. Pineapple cheese is said to have originated in Litchfield county, Conn., and is a hard rennet cheese made from cow's milk. The flavor of different cheeses is given by the method of ripening, due to the action of bacteria.

Hard and soft cheeses differ mainly in the fat constituents and methods of manufacture, but most of all in their keeping quality, the hard cheeses keeping for protracted time.—Good Housekeeping.

A Cynical and Caustic Fling at the English Art Patron.

The general art patron in England is a brewer or distiller. Five and forty is the age at which he begins to make his taste felt in the art world, and the cause of his collection is the following or analogous reason. After a heavy dinner, when the smoke cloud is blowing lustily, Brown says to Smith: "I know you don't care for pictures, so you wouldn't think that Leader was worth £1,500. Well, I paid all that and something more, too, at the last academy for it." Smith, who has never heard of Leader, turns slowly round on his chair, and his brain, stupefied with strong wine and tobacco, gradually becomes aware of a village by a river bank seen in black silhouette upon a sunset sky. Wine and food have made him happily sentimental, and he remembers having seen a village looking very like that village when he was paying his attentions to the eldest Miss Jones. Yes, it was looking like that, all quite sharp and clear on a yellow sky, and the trees were black and still, just like those trees. Smith determines that he, too, shall possess a Leader. He may not be quite as big a man as Brown, but he has been doing pretty well lately. There's no reason why he shouldn't have a Leader. So irredeemable mischief has been done at Brown's dinner party. Another five or six thousand a year will exert its mighty influence in the service of bad art.—George Moore.

Proper Breathing.
To breathe properly take a deep, slow breath, another and another. Put both the hands on your ribs and see how they expand and contract as you breathe in and out. Put one hand on the low ribs in front and the other opposite it on the back. Feel how the back swells as you breathe. There is a powerful muscle called the diaphragm that divides the chest from the abdomen. As the heart and lungs are in the chest, the diaphragm may be called the floor of the chest. It is fastened to the backbone, the ribs and the sternum, or breastbone. And when people speak of diaphragmatic breathing they mean just what we are doing now—filling the lungs with air and emptying them by the expansion and contraction.—Boston Herald.

Our First Cup of Tea.
The first cup of tea made in this country was brewed on the Shapleigh estate in Eliot, N. H., it is said, early in the seventeenth century. Nicholas Shapleigh of England, a rich tea dealer, fitted out an expedition in 1623, placed his son-in-law in command and directed him to explore a portion of the new world. The son-in-law landed at Kittery Point, and two years later Nicholas settled in what is now Eliot. The estate is still owned by his descendants.—Boston Globe.

Old Acquaintances.
"Mrs. Von Queer says that in a previous existence she was a stray cat in a medieval alley."

"That's funny. I wonder if she recalls the gentleman in the purple velvet doublet who opened the casement in the castle tower and flung a boot-jack at her! That was me!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Her Joy.
"How did you get along at the card party?"

"Fine. My husband lost five games that he couldn't blame me for."—Detroit Free Press.

A Genial Reply.
Mrs. Wiggs—John, what is an absolute vacuum? Wiggs—An absolute vacuum, my dear, is something that exists only in your mind.—Chicago News.

Not His Style.
"I thought you said the colt could win in a walk?"

"Well, they went and entered him in a running race."—Washington Herald.

ROBT. E. LEE.

Today is the 104th anniversary of Robert E. Lee. It is to be hoped that every child may today be given an opportunity of learning some valuable lesson from the life of this exemplary hero and citizen.

Lee was born in Westmoreland county, Virginia, in 1807. He graduated with honors from West Point Military Academy, at the age of 22; was made assistant chief engineer, United States Army, at the age of 27; served with distinction in the Mexican war when 39 years of age; was made superintendent of West Point Academy at 45; served as lieutenant-colonel of cavalry against the Indians in Texas; led the United States troops in suppressing the John Brown raid; at the age of 57 was appointed chief commander of the Confederate armies; was installed as president of Washington College at the age of 58; died at Lexington, Va., in 1870, in the 63rd year of his age.

General Lee was, first of all, a Christian gentleman, a man of broad culture and scientific training. He was gentle as a child, as all true heroes are; his wonderful magnetism, his nobility of mind and soul, his manly bearing and poise, his love for children, his courtesy and kindness of heart, stamped him as one not to be classed with men of ordinary mould. His enemies were forced to respect him and his soldiers both feared and loved him.

Lord Wolseley, who was commander-in-chief of the British armies, after visiting Lee's headquarters during the Civil War, remarked that Lee towered above all men on either side of that struggle, and that when the angry feelings aroused by the secession were buried, and when Americans came to view the history of the war with calm impartiality, he believed all would admit that Lee's statue would be worthy of a place on a pedestal, equal with that of Washington.

His birthday is an occasion throughout the South for a holiday, and is rapidly coming to be observed by loyal American citizens in the North, whether sons of the Confederacy or of those who fought under the flag of the Union, for Lee the Confederate general will be henceforth honored as a great and exemplary patriot and citizen as well as soldier and hero.

INVITING TROUBLE.

It would cost $12,500,000 to fortify the canal; at least, that is the estimate. And it is true that this is not a stupendous sum to come out of the pocket of a wealthy Old Man; but Uncle Samuel is possessed of a very healthy mentality and a wonderfully acute faculty for examining motives and weighing evidences in the light of the economics of his household. His opinions are usually just and are based upon reason and common-sense; they prove in the end to be right, but sometimes are disregarded by the boys at Washington, who may be likened to bumptious lads at college who occasionally apologize for the "governor's" eccentricities, but are wondrously pleased to have his signature to the expense voucher.

There is going to be more or less heated argument in Congress on the question of whether the canal should be fortified, and the reasons which have so far been set forth by Mr. Taft and others might be contracted into a sort of syllogism, thus: So long as man is human, there will be some danger of war; that being true, if we are to admit the vessels of rival nations to have intercourse with us through and by reason of the canal, we shall be in constant danger of a hostile attack in case of some international dispute; therefore, we should certainly render ourselves safe from such contingency by throwing up a few breastworks in the neighborhood of the Gatun dam.

Applying the same logic, we might as well prepare to fortify San Francisco against the supposed attack of Japan. Why not construct a few forts about New Orleans or build a Severian wall between Galveston and the sea? for the latter city will, within a few years, certainly become the chief seaport of America. When a nation goes to war nowadays it does not arrange to attack unfortified villages and towns lying near the coast. But it may be pretty safely surmised that every country that has thought of a possible war with the United States has already made out a chart, together with feasible plans of attack, looking toward a successful bombardment of every fortified town on the coasts of America. The great civilized nations of the earth will not plan to enter with hostile design, a port on the canal, if we enter into an agreement with those nations, based upon trust and international good-will, that the canal shall be opened to peaceable and lawful commerce of the whole world. But if we take a stand of proud and defiant aloofness, with a chip and a gun on the shoulder, nothing short of a Gibraltar and the presence of the combined fleets of the continent would save us from bloodshed in time of impending hostilities.

HISTORIC LOVING CUP.

Owned in Turn by Goldsmith, Garrick, Dr. Johnson and Burke.

The famous literary society of London called the Savage club has traditional connection with Will's coffee-house and the Mermaid tavern of early days. The reader of Mr. Watson's volume of history and anecdote relating to the club will come across in its pages incidental mention of things that recall names that are famous in our literature. How rich in associations a simple drinking cup may become is shown by the following:

In 1802 there was brought to the club most remarkable relic of which the lord mayor of London had recently obtained possession. This was a loving cup holding a pint or a little more, which, as certain inscriptions testified, was at one time the property of Oliver Goldsmith. On Goldsmith's death it passed into the hands of David Garrick and thence to the possession of one of the literary and artistic clubs of the day.

Then after an interval it passed into Dr. Johnson's hands, for one of the inscriptions engraved on its silver rim records that it was presented to Burke by his friend Samuel Johnson, doctor of letters, as a memento of Johnson's visit to Beaconsfield, which was Burke's home. The date of the presentation was 1779, five years after the death of Goldsmith and five before the death of Johnson.

AROUND THE WORLD.

Woman Will Try Feat at Investigation of Jack London.

New York Herald.

With $200 in cash, her guitar and mandolin, Mrs. Hilda Gilbert, author and dramatist, of Glen Ellen, California and New York, is to leave here on February 4 next to circle the globe. She is to be accompanied by Jessie Henderson, her negro maid, and is to make the trip in two years and return to New York with a sum of money equal to that which she will take when she starts.

Mrs. Gilbert said at the Hotel Grenoble, Senevith avenue and Fifty-sixth street, last night that her trip is not to be made on a wager, but that her only object is to satisfy her friends that a woman is capable of doing what she is setting out to accomplish. She is to earn her traveling expenses by giving entertainments.

Mrs. Gilbert was born in Buffalo and is 29 years old. While attending a boarding school when she was 14 years old she was married to a Mr. Bradley.

Five years later she became Mrs. Gilbert. Her father, C. H. Myers is a wealthy manufacturer of Buffalo, New York.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a tea-spoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

PARIS STOCKBROKERS.

When They Fail They Are Always Treated as Criminals.

An agent de change (Paris stock-broker) can under the rule of the code of commerce never be adjudged bankrupt pure and simple, his insolvency always involving more or less criminal responsibility. In the absence of fraud the penalty is hard labor for a term, but in case of fraud the punishment is no less than hard labor for life. The public, however, never suffers from the insolvency of an agent de change, because his liabilities, no matter what they amount to, are always taken care of and liquidated in full by the other members of the corporation, who contribute obligatorily each year to a sort of insurance fund or reserve for this purpose. Besides, each of them must before being appointed make a deposit of 250,000 or 300,000 francs at the treasury, which allows them an interest of 2½ per cent.

An agent de change, according to section 85 of the code of commerce, must not transact any commercial or banking business for his own account. He must have no financial interest in any commercial enterprise, whether in his own name or under an assumed name. He cannot even receive payment or settle any account on behalf of his clients. The penalty for the violation of this rule may be a fine of 3,000 francs and eventually the dismissal of the offender.—Moody's Magazine.

Her Tribute to Emerson.

A poor washerwoman in Concord was seen to be hurrying her work and rolling down her sleeves considerably before her usual hour for leaving.

"I'm going out," she informed her employer, with a pleased and rather consequential air.

"Where are you going, Bridget?"

"To hear Mr. Emerson lecture."

"Why, he is very deep, Bridget. Most of us can't understand him very well."

"Oh, I don't understand him, mum, but I like to see him stand up there and talk as if he thought everybody else was as good as he was."

The great philosopher was absolutely free from pride, and he made his hearers realize his perfect democracy of feeling.

Family Preserves.

The following recipe was sent to the editor of a newspaper who had established a household column. It was evidently given by a person of experience:

To make a good jam place one finger or possibly two lightly on the upper edge of an open desk or bureau drawer, close the drawer quickly with the other hand and keep closed for two or three seconds.

Open remove the finger or fingers, adding plenty of interjections. This recipe has been tried by every member of my family and has never failed.

When Murphy's Work Was O'er.

New York American.

When news of the caucus was brought to the boss he blinked twice, signifying satisfaction, and, turning to Cohalan, observed:

"Dan, we're an awful ways from Forty-fourth street and Fifth avenue."

"We are," said Cohalan, and began dutifully to turn the pages of a timetable. And Mr. Murphy, having completed the work he began at Rochester by assuming full control of the destinies of the 9,000,000 citizens of the Empire State, as far as their representation was concerned, slipped a toothbrush into his gripsack, closed the door of room 301 and took the elevator that made the first stake in the journey back to Manhattan.

NEW PRESIDENT OF THE BANK AT STOKESDALE

Mr. A. B. Bray Elected To Succeed His Brother, Mr. C. A. Bray.

Stokesdale, Jan. 18.—The stockholders of the Stokesdale Commercial Bank held their annual meeting yesterday at which time they decided to increase the capital stock from $5,000 to $10,000 and will add a savings department and pay 4 per cent interest on amounts from one dollar to one thousand dollars. Mr. C. A. Bray of Greensboro, resigned as president of the bank, and Mr. A. B. Bray was elected president of the bank. It is understood he will move to Stokesdale and help in the management of the bank.

Mr. W. R. Gentry of this place moved his family to Eagle Springs last Monday where he has bought a nice farm and will engage in farming.

On last Saturday night a large and enthusiastic crowd met at the school house and discussed plans for the new county of Jarvis which proposes to take in Oak Ridge and Bruce townships in Guilford county, Huntsville and about half of New Bethel in Rockingham county, Saugatuck township in Stokes, and a portion of Belews Creek township in Forsyth county. As it is at present the territory embraced in the proposed new county of Jarvis is neglected by the county authorities of their respective counties and need never to hope for much from the old counties. As the various townships lie the farthest from the county seats in each county, and unless the prevailing custom of spending most of the money near the center of the county is broken, the territory which the new county proposes to embrace will always be neglected. While by creating a new county the territory will be developed. At the meeting last Saturday night a committee was appointed to secure funds to send a delegation before the General Assembly, now in session, to promote the interests of the proposed new county.

MOORE BOARDERS WIN.

Take Two Straights From Public Service Company Employees in Bowling Contest.

Last evening at the Gem bowling parlors the Moore Boarders took the second of a series from the Public Service Employees, being two straight games won. The first of the series was played about two weeks ago, it being understood that the winner of two out of three series should be the champions. The contest last evening was won by a majority of 153 pins, it being evident that a short circuit had been made at a point on the lines the Public Service men were unable to reach.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which despite the most beneficial environment of soil—or sunshine—and of atmosphere, seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a cancer eating out its heart.

You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result.

WHO IS TO BLAME

For So Many Sickly Children?

We hear of so many children who are thin, delicate, ailing and tired all the time, we are led to ask what is the cause and who is to blame?

Don't blame the children—they have no strength. They play hard, work hard at school, and rapid growth takes all their strength.

It is the mothers of all such children who are to blame, for if they only realized what our delicious cod liver and iron tonic will do for their little ones, they wouldn't sleep at night until they had started them on Vinol.

Only a few days ago a case came to our attention,—Mrs. W. H. Gilmore of Durand, Mich., had a little daughter nine years of age. She was weak, pale, ailing and nothing seemed to do her any good. She gave her Vinol and she began to thrive at once and gained rapidly in weight, color and strength.

We positively know Vinol will build up your little ones and make them healthy, strong and robust. Try a bottle and if you are not satisfied we will return your money. We make this offer to show you our confidence and belief in Vinol. Fariss-Klutz Drug Co., Greensboro, N. C.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR
Cures Colds; Prevents Pneumonia

FRIDAY, THE THIRTEENTH, SUCH A MERRY LITTLE DAY.

Thirteen Club Dines, Miss Laura Jean Libbey Wears New Hat, Policeman Moore Gets Excited, But Outside of That All's Well.

New York Herald.

Friday, the thirteenth, played a mean trick on a lot of superstitious persons yesterday by behaving in the most circumspect manner. Many of them sat up until midnight to give it a chance to make good, but it absolutely refused to act as the general distributor of bad luck. As a matter of fact, its conduct was fully up to that of less maligned days, and when it passed along last night it left nothing but good impressions behind it. To be sure, it rained all day, but nearly every day this year has been guilty of the same offence.

Its exemplary behavior was a crushing blow to those persons who for weeks have been busy disseminating dispiriting information as to what might happen when it arrived. This class of citizens went about with hats on backward, fingers crossed, arms folded behind their backs and wearing all sorts of charms in an effort to ward off expected disaster. Some of the more enthusiastic spent the day with the family undertaker waiting to hear the crack of doom. They were anxious to avoid the rush.

On the other hand there were ever so many persons who refused to be depressed whether Friday comes on the thirteenth or the fourteenth or any other day. They wouldn't miss Friday if it never came. They aren't the least bit careful as to which foot they put out of bed in the morning and are not afraid to look over their left shoulders when some one whistles after them, unless it happens to be the second of the month. Then they know it is the landlord. Walking under ladders and warbling before breakfast is their regular business.

Policeman Moore, of the Wakefield station, in the Bronx, was one of those who took the stand against the defenceless day. According to Moore's story a fire was discovered at thirteen minutes after seven yesterday morning in No. 3,604 Laconia avenue, the numerals totaling thirteen. He says there were thirteen persons in the house, each of whom yelled thirteen minutes before bringing him to the scene thirteen minutes later. His shield number is 5,813, he wears a thirteen shoe, No. 13 socks and thirteen gloves and he had to run thirteen blocks to the nearest engine company.

Thirteen firemen responded, knocked down thirteen persons in their haste and argued for thirteen minutes as to who should go up a thirteen rung ladder first. The fire was discovered by a boy of thirteen, named Antonia Ruggio, who has thirteen letters in his name and who told the story thirteen times before his voice gave out. The damage to the house was $13, but the damage to Moore's reputation was—well, use your own judgment and multiply that by three.

Two hundred members of the Thirteen Club celebrated the occasion with a dinner at Murray's Roman Gardens, in West Forty-second street last night. It was the twenty-eighth annual banquet of the association, and as usual everything ran to thirteen, thirteen at a table, thirteen courses to the menu and thirteen bites for every course. The tables were decorated with coffin lids and other cheerful trifles. About half of those present were women, and they could hardly wait until Miss Laura Jean Libbey, the author, got up to speak her piece. Miss Libbey wore a fluffy white creation, with an ambitious white hat to match.

Saves Two Lives.

"Neither my sister nor myself might be living today, if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery," writes A. D. McDonald, of Fayetteville, N. C. R. F. D. No 8, "for we both had frightful coughs that no other remedy could help. We were told my sister had consumption. She was very weak and had night sweats but your wonderful medicine completely cured us both. It's the best I ever used or heard of." For sore lungs, coughs, colds, hemorrhage, la grippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, whooping cough,—all bronchial troubles, its supreme. Trial bottle free. 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed by Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

"Speech was also given to man to conceal his thoughts," remarked the Wise Guy. "Well, I know lots of cases where it was an unnecessary precaution," said the Simple Mug.

FOUR BOYS RUNAWAYS GLAD TO GO BACK HOME.

Mothers Come for Two from Waltham, Mass.—Boston Youths Robbed. New York World.

Four runaway boys—Albert McDonough, fourteen, and John Flaherty, 12, of Waltham, Mass., and Richard Butler and Thomas Galvin, each fifteen, of Boston—were arraigned yesterday before Judge Wyatt in the Children's Court as juvenile delinquents, discharged and later shipped home to their parents, with whom the police had communicated.

They came westward not to shoot bears and scalp Indians, but to see the "Great White Way." The Waltham lads soon found that their joint capital—$8—didn't go far. The close of their first day found them penniless and looking for shelter, which they found at the Newsboys' Lodging House. This morning they walked into the station house with appetites which Lieut. Raynor tried to appease by sending out for steak and coffee. Their mothers appeared late in the afternoon and took them home.

But the Boston boys had the real adventure. Butler and Galvin, fired by tales of the city told them by two boys, named Jacky Kripps and Isidore Ruben, who have lived in New York, saved their $4 a week which they earned as grocery boys until they had accumulated $10 each. Then, guided by the Ruben and Kripps boys, they ran away.

"We got the double cross," said young Galvin. "When we reached here we stopped at the Newsboys' Lodging House. Just before we went to bed Wednesday night Jacky said: 'This is an awful tough town, and if you want to be wise guys you should let me keep the money, for I know how to take care of it better than you.'

"So we handed him our money, and when we got up the next morning Jacky and Izzy had left and we were flat broke. Finally we thought we would ask people on the streets for money until we got enough to take us home. We happened to ask a detective, and here we are. Gee, but I wish we were home!"

Mrs. Marie Galvin, after being notified by the police that her son had been taken into custody, wired enough money to pay the fares of both boys back home.

A RELIABLE COUGH MEDICINE

Is a valuable friend. Foley's Honey and Tar fulfills this condition exactly. Mrs. Charles Kline, N. 8th St., Easton, Pa., states: "Several members of my family have been cured of bad coughs and colds by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar and I am never without a bottle in the house. It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure." Howard Gardner.

INDEXING BOOKS.

The Custom is an Old One That Developed Rather Slowly.

The custom of indexing books developed gradually. Cicero used the word "index," but in the sense of a table of contents. Seneca provided some works which he sent to a friend with notes of particular passages, "so that he who only aimed at the useful might be spared the trouble of examining them entire." This was at least a partial "index" in the modern sense. Annotated, or at least explanatory, tables of contents seem to have preceded the index proper.

Such tables followed the order of appearance of the subjects in the book itself. Alphabetical arrangement, which was the beginning of the real index, appears not to have been thought of until the invention of printing, and even then it spread out slowly. Erasmus was one of the first to provide his works with alphabetical indexes. The custom did not become universal until well into the sixteenth century.

The first index to an English book is said to be that printed in Polydore Vergil's "Anglia Historiae," in 1546. An edition of this work published ten years later has an index of thirty-seven pages.

During the Russo-Turkish war Luban furnished provisions to the Russian soldiers. Some twenty years ago he and his wife came to America. They have ten children. The eldest is Mrs. Max Seligman of No. 57 Norfolk Street. Her husband is a fruit dealer. There will be forty-four grandchildren at the celebration this evening.

HOLTON GETS PLUM.

Reappointed As United States District Attorney.

Washington, Jan. 18.—President Taft surprised a number of North Carolinians this afternoon by sending in the reappointment of District Attorney A. E. Holton, of Winston-Salem. This is the first substantial recognition received by the Butler-Morehead faction for some time. Attorney General Wickesham insisted upon this course.

The office pays $4,500 a year, besides necessary expenses attached to the office.

Where He Made His Money.
Years ago a gentleman settled in the south of England and became very popular in the neighborhood. The county families could never discover how he had made his money, but were satisfied by his solemn assurance that it was not in trade. Nothing could exceed the ordinary gravity of his demeanor, which indeed caused him to be placed on the commission of peace, but now and then, without any apparent provocation, he would burst into such a laugh as no one ever heard before except in one place. Where they could have heard it puzzled the county families for five and twenty years, but at last he was betrayed unconsciously by his own grandchild, who, after a visit to a traveling circus, innocently exclaimed, "Why, grandpa laughs just like the clown!"—James Payn.

Her Conclusion.
"I've got my opinion of a woman that can't cook," growled William De Kilkur, glaring at his better half. "I suppose that if our cook would get married I'd starve to death!"

"You needn't worry about that, William," said Mrs. De K. gently. "Our cook has been married once, and I don't consider it at all likely that she would care to!"

But her irate spouse had slammed the door behind him.—Cleveland Leader.

Came After Prisoner.

Yesterday afternoon Deputy Sheriff J. W. Burkhead, of Asheboro, came to Greensboro after Dave Carmack, a negro who escaped from the Randolph jail some weeks ago. Dave was caught by Policeman Causey Saturday night while prowling around the city.

Murder Revealed by a Dream.

Perhaps the most amazing crime mystery ever solved by a dream was that revealed by a murder trial a couple of generations ago. The dead body of Mr. Norway, an inoffensive Cornish gentleman, had been found by the roadside between Wadebridge and Bodmin, brutally murdered. No trace of the murderer could be found, and the mystery of the crime seemed beyond all solution, when Mr. Norway's brother, a naval officer, arrived in England and told the following singular story:

On the very night of his brother's murder, when he was on his ship in the West Indies, he saw him in a dream walking along the Bodmin road, when from a dark recess in the hedge two ruffians sprang out, slew and robbed him and then made their way to a house in Wadebridge, which he saw vividly in his dream. To this house he conducted the police officers, and there he found the very two men whom in his vision he had seen commit the murder. They confessed and suffered the extreme penalty of the law.—Pearson's Weekly.

Horse Dentists.

In every large city there are now dentists who devote their entire attention to horses, and they are kept surprisingly busy the year round. The equine dentist is of course provided with special instruments for the extraction and filling of the teeth of animals needing attention. It is rather interesting to observe an operation in horse dentistry. One of the instruments, called a speculum, presents the appearance of an ivory handle and four small bars of nickel working on a ratchet and crossing one another in such a manner as to form a hollow square that can be made large or small by the turning of a screw. Setting this device to the proper size, the horse dentist will slip it gently into the suffering animal's mouth, which, during the operation, is kept partly open by a groom, and when the instrument is fitted upon, say, one of the back teeth the beast's mouth is kept open as wide as possible.—Harper's Weekly.

The Parson Bird.

Among the feathered inhabitants of New Zealand there is a bird called the parson bird, or tui. It is about the size and shape of a blackbird, but has a pair of delicate white tufts at its throat and is a glossy dark green otherwise, which looks black in the sunshine. It can be taught to crow, to speak, to whistle tunes, and, besides these tricks, it has a repertory which is not often equaled by any other feathered songster. At vespers it has a note like the toll of a bell or the clear, high note of an organ. It can mimic every bird in the bush to perfection. It will break off in the middle of an exquisite melody and indulge in strange melody of sounds which are impossible to describe, but if you can imagine "the combination of a cough, a laugh, a sneeze, with the smashing of a pane of glass," it will be some approach to the idea.

Where He Made His Money.
Years ago a gentleman settled in the south of England and became very popular in the neighborhood. The county families could never discover how he had made his money, but were satisfied by his solemn assurance that it was not in trade. Nothing could exceed the ordinary gravity of his demeanor, which indeed caused him to be placed on the commission of peace, but now and then, without any apparent provocation, he would burst into such a laugh as no one ever heard before except in one place. Where they could have heard it puzzled the county families for five and twenty years, but at last he was betrayed unconsciously by his own grandchild, who, after a visit to a traveling circus, innocently exclaimed, "Why, grandpa laughs just like the clown!"—James Payn.

Her Conclusion.

"I've got my opinion of a woman that can't cook," growled William De Kilkur, glaring at his better half.

"I suppose that if our cook would get married I'd starve to death!"

"You needn't worry about that, William," said Mrs. De K. gently. "Our cook has been married once, and I don't consider it at all likely that she would care to!"

But her irate spouse had slammed the door behind him.—Cleveland Leader.

Came After Prisoner.

Yesterday afternoon Deputy Sheriff J. W. Burkhead, of Asheboro, came to Greensboro after Dave Carmack, a negro who escaped from the Randolph jail some weeks ago. Dave was caught by Policeman Causey Saturday night while prowling around the city.

Chief Justice Fuller's

estate amounted to about a million dollars. Of course he was intimate with many sound financial friends—but he went to a Trust Company and named it as his executor. Why? Because he thought he was going to die, why not his friends die, too, if he appointed them as trustees. He knew that a responsible Trust Company would never die, and that his estate would be properly and safely administered. Being a great lawyer the Chief Justice knew what might happen.

THE GREENSBORO LOAN & TRUST COMPANY solicits your inquiries and would like to explain how it can become your executor and carry out your expressed will.
